MEASLES.—The public school at Oak Shade, near New Market depot, was suspended last week on account of the prevalence of measles.

GREATER CONCERN.—The greater concern of the Old Folks for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. and the Military Company, will be continued to night.

ACCIDENT.—Waller, little son of Judge H. C. Allen, was run over by a horse on last Friday. The horse tramped upon his leg, bruising the flesh but not injuring the bone.

Lying in his crib, a two year old colored child of a servant in the employ of J. B. Sibert, of Page county, Va., was caught by a dog, and after hearing it sung.

There are one hundred and twenty six widows in Staunton, only six of whom are on the poor list. The number of widows is forty-two.

A number of capitalists have opened negotiations with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for the purchase of the old fair grounds in Staunton, with a view to the erection of an extensive iron furnace.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Lemuel Hisey, of Edinburg, while turning a post, was struck in the face and received a severe blow. The injury is not serious, but interfered considerably with his plans for a pleasant visit to conference.

Our military company and Brass Band paraded our streets last Friday, in honor of the anniversary of Washington's birthday. The company presented a fine appearance, and reflected credit upon both men and officers.

The sale of the farm of which Wm. Baker died seized has been postponed to Saturday, March 9, 1878.

The sale will be made in front of the Court House, at 12 o'clock M. on that day.

Elder Z. Parker Richardson, will preach in the Court House on Monday evening, March 4th 1878, at the usual hour for night meetings.

The meeting will continue during the week and on the following Sunday.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Washington Faulstich lost one of his eyes last Thursday. He was working on the new barn of Mr. P. W. Magruder and while driving a spike was struck in the eye by a piece of iron which had broken from the spike. Dr. Magruder rendered surgical attention and is of the opinion that the sight is completely lost.

M. L. Grove will be in Edinburg buying horses till Thursday a week, except on Saturday, when he will be in Strasburg. Persons having horses to sell can call on him at these places.

Thomas Perry, indicted by the grand jury of our court last term for embezzlement was discharged at his examination here before a justice on the ground that the offence was not committed in this county. It is probable the case will be followed to Alexandria.

"Helen's Babies." This work is acknowledged to be the best selling article in our bookstores. Druggists, however, say that Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup sells better than any other medicine. It is perfectly harmless and always reliable. Price 25 cents a bottle.

At an early day there will be a rolling mill started at Winchester, Va., under the auspices of Anderson Brothers & Co., of Williamsport, Pa. The business men of Winchester presented the firm with the land on which to erect the mill, and the blooms used will be drawn from the Valley furnaces.

ABANDONED.—A woman with a child in her arms secured a seat in Capt. Bailey's train and made her way to Charlottesville where she abandoned her child. She left it at the house of a colored man and disappeared. The child is apparently about six weeks old. The Free Press says she left her satchel containing baby-clothes at the depot, and by a card therein, named the little one Edgar Allen.

CONFERENCE.—The United Brethren Conference met in Winchester last week. Bishop Glossbrenner presided. The Baltimore Conference of the M. E. Church, South, will meet in Baltimore on next Wednesday. The question of a reduction of the number of Presiding Elders may be brought to the attention of the conference. There is a general feeling in the church that the support of so many presiding elders are both unnecessary and oppressive.

The Winchester News states the cheese factory established near Berryville, Clarke county, Va., about a year ago, is successful, the farmers supplying it with milk having come out well. It is idle in winter, as they find it more profitable to make their own butter and send it to Washington, where they readily get from thirty-five to fifty cents a pound. One farmer, with twenty cows, is now selling fifty pounds a week, for which he gets fifty cents a pound.

Calves and pigs fed on the surplus milk pay, he says, all the expenses, leaving a handsome return clear profit.

In Woodstock a Finished Town.

Just as we are emerging from the mud and filth of another winter season it would seem quite the time for some such inquiry as the caption. What is the condition of this town as a Corporation?—the financial condition? Are we still paying interest on railroad bonds? and if so, what progress is being made toward liquidation? Nobody questions the integrity of our councilmen, but nevertheless a little information, like a little fun, now and then, is relished by the best of men. If the people of this town were well posted on the condition of the treasury, the indebtedness, the revenue and its disbursements by full and clear publication, some occasional citizen outside of the council might offer a suggestion, or a number might start a movement, looking to some improvement. But the rule seems to be that the councilmen are the special guardians of all interests and not representative of a constituency—at liberty to do and decide upon everything without conference or discussion except when they meet as the council in some little corner.

Now Messrs. Editors, this is no complaint against the city fathers. I have, and the citizens have, the utmost confidence in each and all of them; but whether this is a finished town or not depends entirely upon whether we are to drift along in the future as in the past. Digging one well, and making a piece of road to the depot constitutes the whole of our improvements for five years,—tumbling a wheel barrow full of stone into a mud hole now and then excepted. The only real good side walk is that paid for by the county in front of the jail and court house and each year the town in this respect is growing worse. The county seat is behind every other incorporated town in the county in this regard. We are perfectly dead to everything like progress and shamefully indifferent to convenience. There is no denying the fact that the people of the county are losing all respect for Woodstock as a town, and esteem it a severe task instead of pleasure to come here on any business. There is nothing attractive, no pride, no life, but only the evidences of a wretched selfishness. There is nothing inviting in or about Woodstock. Are we to go on in this way? Are there no live men in the council, or are they all grove followers? Better that we had a small-scale Tweed or Sheppard than all dead men. One positive, live man would long ago have pressed and passed a declaratory resolution that the old Stephenson building is a nuisance and had it pulled down. Some general and decided improvement in our side walks we must have, and some positive effort to get out of the sticky route that we have been running backwards in for some years. The town has increased in buildings and population since the war in a ratio favorably comparing with any other in the Valley and yet we have not one single permanent improvement. An occasional festival in the court house to raise fifteen shillings is all that we ever hear of, and even these could not be held if the town had to depend upon a building or hall of its own for the purpose.

The reply at once to every suggestion implied in this communication is that "the town cannot afford it," or "we had better pay our debts," or the town was always good enough and "let those who don't like it leave." Now there are a few citizens here who are aware of the fact that there is no such thing as special privileges here, and who do not intend to stop pressing this matter during the coming spring and Summer. It is the right of taxpayers and voters and all to have information. Let us know our condition, and then let us have some voice in determining whether we are going on living and trading in mud surrounded by grave yards and rotten dens.

TOWNSMEN.

THE MCCORMICK TELESCOPE.—The resolution offered by Mr. Bock, tendering the thanks of the General Assembly to Mr. McCormick for the gift of the great telescope to the University of Virginia, being under consideration, Mr. Faulstich, Wednesday night, said:

"Mr. Speaker, as a son of the University, it will not be obtrusive for me to urge the passage of this resolution. It is drawn by the polished pen and practiced hand of the gentleman from Appomattox; and it expresses, gracefully and gratefully, the due sensibility with which Virginia accepts this costly contribution to the astronomical department of her great University, by one of her noble sons, who though resident in a far-off and new State, yet, like every true Virginian, still turns fondly to his native home, and draws, at each remove of time and space, a lengthening chain of loving reverence for his old mother State. The distinguished donor of this noble benefaction to science has himself been crowned with the rich rewards of an inventive genius, which has greatly enlarged the field of mechanical usefulness, and he comes now, sir, with the tender devotion of filial affection, and throws into the lap of his widowed old mother this bright illustration of the beautiful expression of material recompense—'Her children rise up and call her blessed!' I hope earnestly that the resolution will be adopted."

DEATH OF CHAS. L. WOOD.—This gentleman, long an active and useful citizen of Frederick county, died at his residence on Thursday morning last. He had been in ill health for some years, but returned from a visit to Florida, where he spent last winter, apparently very much improved. Early in the fall, however, he relapsed, and it soon became evident that his recovery was impossible. He bore his long and painful illness with true christian fortitude. Mr. Wood was a very active and energetic business man, and bore his full share in forwarding enterprises which tended to promote the general welfare. He was besides a charitable man, and the deserving poor always found him prompt to aid them in their distress. —Win. Times.

Smile is not more useful than neglecting a cough. For only 25 cents you can buy a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and be saved from death.

Them Gurls.

SCREAMSBURG, 25th, 1878.

MR. HERALD:

Our sense of propriety was so shocked on reading that list of nicknames in your paper of the 13th, which the gurls of Woodstock call the young men, that we immediately wrote all over too our wife, said she "Simkins" editors never did that thing. Sum good-fol nuthen can rote that, an if his name is in that place I'll bet he never called his self by the name the Woodstock gurls call him." Now we couldn't see any reason for this conclusion but our defence for woman's instinct just led us right on to accept Susan James notion. Why said she, Simkins "that is a reflexion upon them gurls that I was born and raised with, and if ever you rot anything for the paper in your life now is the time I want to take you pen in hand." So I, Susan Jane, we'll do for; for we told them gurls from our innosense, we've corted them all nearly, and all ways come them trackable and coetive. Now Mr. Editor we've engaged to two of them gurls at onst and they never called us but such names as Mr. Simkins in company and Josiah when by ourselves, and we've got a hundred letters to prove how they wood call us Dear Simkins or Darling Josiah when we was absent. Susan Jane see "nobody but a d-d bet wood say them up-town gurls use such language as hellummitte." and if we wasn't afeard he was a member of that new military company and wood like too immortalize himself by jumpen on a sicklyman, we wood give him more than one sick name for slandering them lower end gurls. Susan Jane see "he is some discarded retch" and Delilah Jarvis see "his even worse than that she nose." Sum of the people here have heard word that peace and one feller told me if he wood tell about sum of his behavior with a couple of our young gurls that he wood have a heap worse name than any in that place. A fat young feller from Baltimore who was h-selling molasses to our store sed he coud tell us enugh about him to make a book as big as the almanac and when we sed him agin we will get it all up and rite it to your paper, that the gurls may no the source of the peace. We will close Mr. Editor tell we get the information we expect from that young man.

Yores in haste
 JOSHUA SIMKINS.

ENNOY DOES BUSINESS.—On a recent visit to New Market we availed ourselves on an opportunity to go through the carriage factory of Mr. John Clinch. Few of our own people really know the extent of this business in New Market. Mr. Clinch supplies a large demand and keeps in stock buggies and carriages that compare in workmanship, finish and style with any and all first class establishments. Our attention was directed specially to a fine carriage put up for Mr. Fletcher, of Rappahannock, that was superb. We never saw a more handsomely finished carriage nor one more complete in all its parts. There are few shops in the South where such work is or can be put up.

Some of our mechanics and tradesmen too, may learn from Clinch's how business may be done in Shenandoah as well as elsewhere by well directed energy.

A BEAUTIFUL WORK OF ART.—A People must and will have pictures. No house or room is considered furnished without them, yet many of the pictures that hang on our walls are those of unknown faces, or landscape views that have found a place there, not because of the lessons they teach, but because people must and will have pictures.

Prof. Davis of the Williamsport Commercial College, has recently executed a pen and ink Drawing entitled "The Bible out-weighs all other Books," which as a work of art will be an ornament to either sitting room, Parlor, Library or Counting house, while the lessons it teaches make it worth many times the cost of the picture. Size of pictures 22x28 inches. Price $1.00. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal Commission. For terms send a postal card to

Items of Interest.

Beecher says in his newspaper that "the intimations of the Bible, so far as it contains any, are that the departed live in close proximity to the earth, and are cognizant of what is going on."

A dog about the size of a red squirrel was recently sold in Toronto, Canada, for $5,000.

The trunk of a tree 300 feet high—or a section of it—from Mississippi is to be among the wonders of the Paris Exhibition.

Judge Whitaker, of the Superior Criminal Court of New Orleans, has refused a new trial to Anderson, convicted of conspiracy to forge cotton returns.

It is a common thing for dissipated persons to say that they would have been better if their parents had not been so strict with them. Nothing in the world comes so easy to a man as finding excuses for his conduct.

The only executed murderer who hasn't gone to heaven is the Chinaman who was lately hanged in California. He had the Christian religion explained to him, but failing to comprehend it, he had to go off in his old faith.

The youngest convict in Georgia is ten years old, the oldest eighty. The average age is twenty-five.

Eighteen million dollars in judgments are down to Tweed's account in the courts and the proceedings to declare him a bankrupt have failed.

The population of Rome, which was in 1867, 215,573, rose last year to 280,564. From 7,000 to 8,000 soldiers were included in each enumeration.

A creditor in Maysville, Ky., sought to get an attachment on the ground that his debtor had said, "I'm going to sell out and go to hell." This justifying a belief that he intended to quit the State. The Justice decided that the remark was no indication that the debtor meant to go out of Kentucky.

The Eastern situation is unsatisfactory again. The Porte is recalcitrant. Servia is opposed to the way Russia is carrying on. In London the peace meeting was broken up by the war party.

Daniel Lambert, of West Farmington, Me., lived 90 years in this world before he became so tired off as to commit suicide. He hung himself last week.

In Colorado the girls play, drive bulls are skilled in the use of the rifle and lasso, and in fact do everything that men do. When a young gentleman "pops the question," he is told to mount his horse, the young lady doing the same, and taking about ten steps the start of her suit, promises to be his if he overtake her in a half mile dash, and the nuptial knot tied on the spot. The majority of the fair sex are in favor of female suffrage. So says a letter to the Staunton Vindicator.

THE DOMESTIC MONTHLY.—The March number of this sterling magazine shows no abatement in the vigor of its management, and is, if anything, an improvement on the brilliant numbers which have preceded it this year. Its fashion department is the future which will probably prove most attractive to the ladies, with its wealth of gracefully presented and fresh information. Great credit is due to the editor, who has not only delighted the feminine eye by the elegant and tasteful illustrations, but also by the reliable and extensive. Each illustration is fully explained in the text, comprising Trimmings, Seasonable Dresses, Skirts and Skirtings, Infants' Clothing, Millinery, Jewellery, Linen, Fancy and Needle Work, etc., etc.

In the department of literature proper we find another installment of Mary Cecil Hay's charming series, "Her Three Loves," several sketches of more than ordinary merit. No. 6 in the series, "The Delightful Story of 'Flower Talks,'" poems by Joaquin Miller, Austin Dobson, and others, in addition to the very enjoyable Miscellaneous and Small Talk, excellent book reviews, instructive Household Department, and humorous and thoughtful Monies.

The Domestic Monthly is published by Blake & Company, 849 Broadway, New York, $1.50 per year, inclusive of pattern premium. Specimen copies, 15 cents.

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature, rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from the cause. A bottle of Beecher's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful. As your drug ist will tell you, German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on a trial, 10c regular size, 50c for sale by Dr. D. D. Carter & B. Schnitz, Woodstock Va.

For SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, constive habit, inactive liver, and all other ailments, Beecher's German Syrup is the only remedy. It is a powerful purgative, and its use will result in a healthy and vigorous system. It is a powerful purgative, and its use will result in a healthy and vigorous system. Any ONE TROUBLED WITH A COUGH ON COLD, THROAT, BRONCHITIS, OR LUNG TROUBLE, will avoid much suffering and risk by the timely use of "Dr. Swaine's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry," an old and well attested remedy. For weak lungs, bronchitis, nervous debility, it is unequalled as a lung remedy. Being the favorite prescription of one of Philadelphia's most eminent physicians, it can be relied on. Sold by leading druggists. In Woodstock, at the drug-store of Dr. D. D. Carter.

NOTICE.—All parties indebted to my account or note are earnestly requested to come forward and make immediate payment, as I have no time to delay in order to protect my business successfully.
